National Commander Brown Presents Legion Program For Nation

Speaks At Banquet In His Honor At Cathedral On Monday Night

State Legion Heads Also Share In Program—Over 850 In Attendance

Present the facts, weigh the balance, and that's the Legion's program, National Commander Perry Brown told more than 350 American Legionnaires, members of the auxiliary and guests at the Cathedral Monday night.

Commander Brown was principal speaker at a banquet held in his honor by the American Legion Posts of the 26th District which includes Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties.

Veteran Of Both Wars

The Beaumont, Texas, building contractor was elected to his high position last summer at the Legion's national convention in Miami. He is a veteran of both world wars.

He enlisted as a private in 1917, was promoted to first lieutenant, and later captain on the battle fields of France, where he was wounded. In 1940, Commander Brown went back on active duty and served as a colonel in infantry training during the last world conflict. He was physically disqualified from combat duty.

His speech last night dealt with the importance of veterans' rights, their desires in three fields of federal legislation, and the Legion's contribution toward making this nation stronger.

Veterans Dominate

The National Commander pointed out that in 1945, 85 per cent of all the able bodied men of this country between the ages of 20 and 30 were in the armed forces. Twenty years from now they will be the men who control the economic, social, and political life of the country. Four out of every five men in that prime age group between forty and fifty will have been a veteran. "How will he run things?"

While in service the veteran learned "for every right there is a duty, for every benefit a responsibility and for every privilege an obligation." In his peace-time program, the veteran has continued to recognize both his duties and his rights.

"A veteran's first responsibility is to his disabled comrade, and the wife and children of the man who didn't come back," the commander stated. That is why 1,000 Legion officers met in Washington recently when the government decided on a program of curtailing the construction of Veterans' Administration hospitals.

Hospital Program Restored

"We just presented the facts concerning the number of disabled veterans, estimated the number of beds needed and let the Congressional committee decide whether the slow down in hospital construction was just or not. I can assure you that in a few weeks the complete program for veterans hospitals will be restored," Brown told the enthusiastic audience.

"In the same way we have been tackling the problem of housing and pensions. More latitude to the F.H.A. and federal aid to low rent housing will come out of this Congress because the congressional leaders and the President have been shown the need for such measures."

According to Brown the veteran has always been criticized for his pension demands. The program now planned by the Legion is for beneficiary, and benefactor, both.

Lawn mowers were in action in many parts of the city on Monday afternoon and evening, as the spring task of cutting grass got a big start this spring.

United Nations Assembly Opens This Afternoon

ATLANTIC PACT CAUSES STRAIN

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., April 5.—The General Assembly of the United Nations meets today without fanfare amid an international situation strained by the "cold war" and the newly signed North Atlantic Pact.

At 3 p. m. this afternoon some 1,000 delegates from fifty-eight nations and their assisting diplomatic teams will gather at the Flushing Meadows auditorium for the opening address by Assembly President Herbert V. Evatt of Australia.

Foreign Ministers To Attend

Among the delegates listening to him are at least ten of the foreign ministers who signed the Atlantic Pact in Washington yesterday. Their speculative glances undoubtedly will stray to the Soviet section of the auditorium, where First Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and his group are seated. Evatt's speech is expected to last no more than twenty minutes, and so far is the only one scheduled for the day. But there is always the possibility that Gromyko will call for the floor or raise the issue of the Atlantic Pact in the subsequent meeting of the 14-nation general committee.

Among the visiting foreign minister of the Atlantic Pact group will be U. S. Secretary of State (Continued on Page Two)

Vice Premier Of Bulgaria Under Arrest

SOFIA, April 5.—(INS)—Bulgaria announced the arrest last night of vice premier Trenbe Kostov, number two man in the country's governmental and communist party hierarchy, for excessive "nationalism" and attempting to "supersede" premier Georgi Dimitroff.

(Reports reaching Belgrade from Sofia said that 300 persons, including Kostov and Rache Angelov, vice-president of the Bulgarian parliament have been rounded up in a large scale purge.)

Kostov, a member of the Bulgarian Politburo, was relieved of his posts as vice-premier, and chairman of the committee for economic and financial questions.

(Editors note: The circumstances of Kostov's arrest and fragmentary information from behind the iron curtain indicated that he was suspected of favoring the pro-western policies of Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia who has broken with the cominform.)

Foreign Ministers Assembled At Pact Signing Ceremony

Western Europe Hails Atlantic Pact Signing As Step Toward Peace

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, International News Service

PARIS, April 5.—Western Europe hailed signing of the North Atlantic Security Alliance as a major step toward permanent peace today. But—as anticipated—the Soviet press and radio and the propaganda agencies of eastern Europe as a whole branded it as a move on the road to war.

Reports from behind the iron curtain indicated a determined attempt to convince the people that the western world is "preparing for the worst."

Do Not Believe Propaganda

There are other signs, however, that with the possible exception of inside Russia itself, the majority of people in the eastern countries do not necessarily believe the Communist propaganda line that the western powers are preparing for an aggressive war against Russia.

Generally speaking, the people of the Soviet satellite states look upon the pact as a sign that the western governments fear war with the USSR unless there is a drastic change in Soviet foreign policy.

Some western European diplomatic observers expressed belief that the emphasis placed by President Truman and the treaty signatories regarding the pact's defensive nature reflected belief that Russia might strike quickly if its true objectives were misinterpreted.

Await Kremlin Reaction

The diplomatic corps in Paris is awaiting with keen interest the first "material" reaction from the Kremlin.

There was widespread belief this might take some form differing (Continued on Page Two)

Atlantic Treaty Will Be Sent To Senate Shortly

President To Send Pact To Senate For Ratification And Press For Speed

RATIFICATION BY SENATE NECESSARY

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The United States plans to move rapidly today to bring the North Atlantic Defense Treaty into force in the face of a Senate prediction that Russia may act before it is ratified.

A high-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee forecast privately that Russia may put the pact to the test, perhaps by a move into some such areas as Finland or Iran, before the treaty is approved by the Senate.

Speed Is Important

Speed is regarded in Washington as of the utmost importance following the official signing of the history-making pact to counter any threat of aggression from behind the iron curtain.

In addition to the senator's prediction, various statements from Moscow and Communist leaders spelled plainly that signing of the treaty may set off various counter-moves by the Soviet.

President Truman planned to send the treaty to the Senate within a few days and undoubtedly will stress the urgency of such an alliance to preserve world peace.

While the treaty faces a delay in the Senate's traffic jam of legislation, the administration is determined upon early ratification. Approval is considered certain.

The treaty must be ratified by the seven charter members before it becomes effective. These are the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Street Lighting Being Changed

Penna. Power Co. Workmen Start Revamping Lighting System On Many Streets

Pennsylvania Power company linemen today commenced changing street lights in Delaware avenue, having revamped the North Mercer street light system, between Grant and Wallace avenue Monday. Lights will be changed in various thoroughfares, and some new lights installed, at a net cost of $2,858.30, to the city.

Most of the replacements will be spiral shaped globes. Lamp shades now exist.

Flash Fire Roars Through Hospital With Tragic Speed

(BULLETIN)
EFFINGHAM, Ill., April 5.—(INS)—An estimated 60 persons, including eight newborn infants, perished today when a flash fire roared through St. Anthony's hospital in Effingham.

Mayor H. B. Rinehart of Effingham said firemen and volunteer workers were prevented from searching the charred ruins for bodies because of the intense heat and dense smoke.

"It will be some time," he said, "before the exact casualty toll is available, but it will be heavy."

All hospital records were destroyed in the holocaust which gutted the 62-year-old, three and one-half story building. It was the only hospital in Effingham, a city of 8,000 in south central Illinois.

Second Worst Hospital Blaze

The fire, which apparently started in the basement and raced through a laundry chute to envelop the entire interior, was the second worst hospital fire in United States history.

The most serious was the blaze in 1929 which swept the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic hospital operated by Dr. George W. Crile and caused the death of 124 persons.

Twenty-five bodies had been recovered from the scene of the tragedy some eleven hours after the fire flashed through the hospital so speedily that the building was a mass of flames in a few minutes.

Mayor Rinehart said he had asked Gov. Adlai Stevenson to order National Guardsmen and state police to patrol the area.

Spreads Rapidly

Rinehart said he saw smoke pouring from the hospital windows as he ran from his home and in a matter of ten minutes the building was enveloped in flames.

The fire was discovered a few minutes after midnight.

Included in the number of dead were the Rev. Charles Sandon, 50, hospital chaplain and Sister Eustacia, who were trapped on the third floor; Miss Fern Riley, 21, of Stewarton, Ill., a nurse in the hospital nursery and Sister Bertina, who was hemmed in by flames on the second floor.

Runs Through Flames

Mrs. Arnold Aderman, 24, who was in the delivery room of the maternity ward when the alarm was given, ran through the licking tongues of flame to the outside and then was assisted a few blocks to her home where her third child was born.

Survivors and those burned and injured fighting the blaze overflowed the several clinics in Effingham. Some were taken to hospitals at Olney and Vandalia.

Private homes in Effingham, which is 200 miles southwest of Chicago and 100 miles northeast of St. Louis, were turned over to the sick and injured while Red Cross nurses and volunteer nurses aids could care for them.

Blood plasma and drugs were rushed to the city and doctors from surrounding towns were called to the community.

Every fire department within the radius of 30 miles sped into Effingham to battle the flames when it was discovered.

Discovered Blaze

Sister Anastasia, night superintendent of the hospital, discovered the blaze. She telephoned the building engineer, Frank Reis, and the city fire department.

Then she called St. Francis Convent, only a few yards from the hospital, where the sisters are quartered. The sisters immediately started rendering first aid to the injured.

Sister Anastasia said that after she made her calls she opened the door of her first floor office and was confronted by a sheet of flame and choking smoke. She slammed the door shut and groped her way to safety through another corridor.

Sister Anastasia said she last saw Reis running up a stairway to rescue his wife who works as a nurse in the hospital nursery.

Reis has not showed up since but it was believed he went to a Mattoon hospital in an ambulance with his wife. She was reported to have died en route to Mattoon.

Account For 58 Patients

Effingham officials reported that 58 patients had been accounted for and the nearest figures the sisters could arrive at were 108 patients hospitalized.

However, the hospital had 125 beds and they were reported almost full. Together with fatalities (Continued on Page Two)

Night Session Of Senate In Effort To Speed Aid Bill

Many Amendments Proposed Are Delaying Action On Foreign Aid Measure

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Another night session of the Senate was scheduled today in the administration's desperate effort to wear down the talk and dispose of some 30 amendments to the foreign aid bill.

Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., who failed last week in a similar move, was expected to seek an agreement to start voting on the series of proposed revisions.

The outlook for any rush of speed, however, was dim. Several more days on the five and one-half billion dollar European recovery extension appeared to be in prospect.

Underwriting Socialization

Sen. Kem (R) Mo., who proposes to bar use of ECA funds to any country which hereafter nationalizes a basic industry, leveled the latest attack against present policy. He charged that the American tax- (Continued on Page Two)

The dentist man is a pleasant guy, when you're out on a social round, he pays his way and he fits right in, but when you're in trouble I've found, he soon forgets of those friendly nights and as he sharpens his drill, you might be someone he never saw, as your molar he starts to fill. #### Local Sportsman Solves Fishing Problem

A New Castle fisherman, who had just bought a Phoenix Mutual Retirement Income, recently said to me: "This policy means that your company will be supplying me with all the big fat minnows I can use. It takes more than worms to catch bass, wall-eyes, and muskies—and this extra $50 a month, together with my Social Security income, will keep the old min-now bucket full of good, live bait."

Right now this chap is in his early forties and working hard —but he's looking ahead to years of carefree leisure. He already owns a cabin site on one of Canada's best fishing lakes, and he adds: "I've already mounted a beauty of a 40-inch muskie to go over my fireplace—and I'm going after that 50-incher that once took my minnow a foot above the water. It's all as good as fixed right now."

Perhaps you, too, would like to know how you can make sure of a guaranteed income when you're ready to ease up and enjoy life. The first step is to send for a Phoenix Mutual Retirement Income catalog—which is yours without cost or obligation. Just drop me a line, and I'll gladly mail you a copy today.

Atlantic Treaty Will Be Sent To Senate Shortly

tries have had preliminary parliamentary approval of the alliance. In Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, the parliaments have passed on the advisability of signing the treaty, so that ratification should come almost automatically.

Seek Authority To Rearm
After sending the treaty to the Senate for ratification the administration is expected to press for authority to rearm Western Europe with American resources, which threatens to touch off a Senate fight.

Legislation now is before the budget bureau which would permit the United States to spend around one billion 500 million dollars for the rearmament of Europe.

Procedures for the creation of a council composed of all 12 signatory states to draft mutual defense measures as well as mutual economic supports already have been started.

Prepare Defense Program
The American defense establishment announced simultaneous signing of the pact Monday that the 12 nations will exchange armed forces officers to prepare for a mutual defense program.

Hearings on the treaty will be started by the Senate Foreign Relations committee Monday. Sen. Connally (D) Tex., committee chairman, indicated that he will try to avert any delay. He said he hoped to get the pact to the Senate floor within a month and added:

"I think it ought to get a high priority. We can't afford to let it go too long."

Connally said that signing of the pact is an epoch-making event. He added that "it is a compact to resist aggression. It is designed to promote the peace of the world."

Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., who said there may be some delay in Senate action because of the tieup on domestic legislation, hailed the treaty. He said: "It is an extension of the Monroe Doctrine. It is novel, but in this atomic world we cannot remain static. We have no ill feeling toward the Russian people. I think the world is big enough for both nations. But we have become realistic after two wars. We must never be deceived again."

TO RECALL 11,000
ALTOONA, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Railroad announced today that the 11,000 employees in the Altoona district who were furloughed because of the two-week coal holiday will be recalled to their jobs by Thursday. The shutdown was scheduled originally to end April 1, but was extended six days. All departments of the Altoona Works were affected.

During Holy Week, pause and pray at noon each day. Union noon-time meditation, 12:05-12:30 in First Methodist church, corner Jefferson and North. Mrs. James W. Moorehead, president, Y. W. C. A., says: "We heartily endorse the ministerial plans for meeting during Holy Week. In this time of tension all over the world, it is good for us to pause and take stock of ourselves—to think a while of the Man of Galilee who took upon Himself all the tensions that are or ever will be, and conquered them for us!"

A community service of the New Castle Ministerial association.

WESTERN EUROPE HAILS ATLANTIC PACT SIGNING

from mere continuation of the propaganda attacks labeling the treaty as aggressive, directed against the Soviet Union and famed in violation of the United Nations charter.

A possibility was foreseen that one of the first moves might be establishment of a full-fledged "puppet" government in the eastern zone of Germany.

In this connection, the Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite charged that the alliance "officially annuls" the Yalta and Potsdam agreements which pledged the four victorious powers to "work together to consolidate peace and end the menace of German aggression."

Berlin newspapers gave wide prominence to the signing. The Soviet-licensed Neues Deutschland called the Pact an "anti-Soviet war treaty" while the Berliner Zeitung said that it is "designed to instigate war."

STREET LIGHTING BEING CHANGED

will be of 600 candle power, and new lights, in outlying districts, will be of 250 candle power strength.

Streets Affected
Changes will occur in streets and avenues, as follows:

Highland avenue, Grant street, Montgomery avenue, North Mercer street, Wilmington avenue, Balpn avenue, Locust street, Ashland avenue, Vine street, Lorraine avenue, City Line street, Mahoning avenue viaduct, West Washington street to a point near the western city line; East Washington street, (County Line street to Cascade Park); Croton avenue and Ray street.

New lights will be installed at Wooley avenue and Gretchen streets, Harbor street and Beil avenues; Warren and Stanton avenues; Summit street, Hazen street, Brinton Hill, rear of South Mill street (near Lawrence laundry) and also in County Line street, near where it intersects South Mill street.

NATIONAL COMMANDER BROWN PRESENTS LEGION PROGRAM

members of the veteran's groups and a generation apart to sit down and work out the program of who is the needy veteran, and how much shall be paid.

The National Commander assured the assemblage that within three weeks a pension bill would come out of Congress that would be clear cut and understandable, as a result of this type of thinking and action.

"To weigh the balance for these benefits in hospitals, housing and pensions what must the veteran do?"

Veterans Obligations
Brown outlined a three-fold program followed by the American Legion. This program, on the responsibility side of the ledger, does not include financial remuneration to the government. It is a plan designed to make and keep America strong.

As Brown outlined the program, it is continued development of the youth activity program, fighting subversive elements, and maintaining a strong, trained civilian force.

Junior baseball, boys' state, girls' state, boys' nation and girls' nation has had over two million participants who are learning the values of citizenship.

Brown pointed out that since the Legion's first convention in 1919, it has been fighting "isms" that try to destroy the system of government. He told the group of the wide use the F.B.I. made of Legionnaires in its drive to stamp out possible un-American groups during the last war.

Advocates UMT

The third phase of keeping America strong is maintaining a large, trained civilian body of men. Brown voiced the opinion that the nation needs universal military training, and not a large standing group of professionals who use 60-70 per cent of the military budget for pay. He pointed out that all of the country's great military leaders, from Washington to Marshall, have advocated trained civilian personnel because they all realized that the civilians and not the standing professionals, do the fighting in wartime.

The speech was well received by the Legionnaires, their wives and the many guests present.

Earlier the group had enjoyed a delicious braised steak dinner, complete with after-dinner mints. Rev. Francis Hoffman pronounced the invocation and the benediction. Music on the program was provided by the Gaston Post 343 band, the Rochester Post 498 drum and bugle corps, and the Lone Star 479, barbershop quartet.

Department Heads Speak

Joseph Bontempo, commander of the 26th district introduced a host of honored guests including his staff and many past commanders. Short greetings were extended by Pennsylvania Department Commander Lawrence Trainor and Auxiliary's department president, Mrs. D. A. Krumrine.

Joseph Clerc, of Canady-Hull Post 341, Ambridge, served as toastmaster for the evening and Chester Sweezy of the Gaston Post was the general chairman.

Dancing in the main ball room followed the speaking portion of the program.

payers are in effect underwriting socialization of industry in Great Britain.

Kem noted that British overseas airlines had contracted for purchase of 10 new Boeing strato-cruisers, the last word in long-range passenger planes. He said the means of obtaining such equipment "can come from no source except American taxpayers' money."

Financed By American Money

At the same time, Kem said, "American Airlines had decided to dispose of its American overseas airlines, because it did not wish to provide "risk capital" to buy more modern planes."

Kem told the Senate: "Private investors of America have no stomach to compete with British enterprise which is financed with American money... by ECA."

Kem's amendment was not expected to pass. Most of the others still pending, including the Indonesian amendment of Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, also faced probable defeat.

UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

Dean Acheson, Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, Canada's Lester B. Pearson and France's Robert Schuman.

Most of them have no plans to speak before the assembly and will return to Washington after tonight's reception by Acheson.

Silent On Pact Signing

The signing of the Atlantic Pact twenty-four hours before the assembly's opening drew only silence from U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie returned from Havana and had nothing to say either to the assembly or for publication on the pact.

Evatt is keenly aware of the storm the Atlantic Pact, the case of Cardinal Mindszenty, Indonesia and Franco Spain are apt to provoke.

In preparation for the assembly's opening, Evatt stated:

"In my opinion, the Paris assembly achieved considerable success but this achievement on the whole has been inadequately recognized. "We must all work together to continue to strengthen the work of U. N. without that, it will be impossible to achieve international peace based on justice—not mere power and force."

The huge auditorium will be jammed by hundreds of delegates, newsmen, photographers and visitors.

After the initial plenary meeting, the delegates will break up into committees to carry out the detailed aspects of the assembly's work.

The general committee, steering agent of the 58-nation group, will meet at Flushing Meadows simultaneously with the assembly to chart the course ahead for the assembly in the coming weeks when the delegates will be alternating between Flushing Meadows and Lake Success.

Highlight of the assembly will be Israel's formal admission as the 59th member of the world organization.

FIND STOLEN BICYCLE

Police have in their possession at headquarters a Shelby Flyer bicycle, with no license plate, which was found by Policeman Kelvin Goodman last night in front of 342 Neshannock avenue. The frame number is H33747.

FLASH FIRE ROARS THROUGH HOSPITAL WITH TRAGIC SPEED

among the hospital staff it was believed the death toll would reach 60.

Mother Superior Cecelia Anne said: "As I understand it, the fire started in a clothes closet in the basement."

"Then suddenly, the north and east wings of the T-shaped building burst into flames. I don't know how that could have happened."

Another eyewitness, William Esch, a commercial photographer, said, in describing the scene:

"Patients Leap Out
"Women were jumping out of the second story window... men were jumping out of the third floor windows... they crawled along the ground towards the nearest light and away from the fire."

"There were screams coming from all around me... and I ran toward the entrance, but it was all in flames. So I turned and ran toward the only entrance available... the rear one."

Hospital authorities said two children were delivered during the fire, but were dead from the intense heat by the time they were taken out of the delivery room. They were not immediately identified.

One of the sisters, a member of the Third Order of St. Francis, which operated the hospital, said: "The fire shot up from the basement through the clothes chutes and swirled out on each floor."

"Then the oxygen tanks began exploding and the fire swept rapidly through the entire hospital."

Temporary Morgue

One of the survivors, Mrs. Gladys Middleton, 43, of Noble, Ill., was injured seriously in a leap from her third floor room.

Before being taken to the Jackson hospital, she asked: "What became of my roommate?"

Her roommate, Mrs. Louis Haumesser, of Effingham, who had been planning to go home today, is among the missing.

A temporary morgue was set up in the Effingham Armory, and there came distraught relatives and friends to begin the grim task of identification.

Preliminary estimates placed the damage at $250,000.

In 1787, the catacombs of Paris were arranged to contain the bodies removed from other burying grounds, and upward of 6,000,000 bodies now are preserved in them, the bones arranged in varied designs along the sides of the galleries.

Holy Week Plans In City Complete

Three Good Friday Services
Plans In Strategic Locations Of City On April 15

NOON MEDITATION PERIODS PLANNED

Churches of New Castle and adjacent communities will join again this year for a united Holy week program, it was announced Monday at the regular meeting of the New Castle Ministerial association in the First Presbyterian church.

Three Good Friday services are planned for the different districts of the city with visiting pastors to participate in the unified program. First Presbyterian church will be the scene of the annual Good Friday service for East, North and West side residents, with the service to begin at noon and continue until 3 o'clock. Similar services are planned in the Primitive Methodist church for South Siders and the Mahoning Methodist for the Seventh-Warders.

A series of four Holy Week programs is planned from Monday, April 11, through Thursday, April 14, from 12:05 noon to 12:30 p.m. in the auditorium of First Methodist church. Rev. E. Leppaluoto, Rev. J. L. Petrie, Rev. H. O. Fichter and Rev. J. Paul Graham will be heard during this time.

in a stronger Labor Department is a strong and capable Secretary. Reorganization alone cannot accomplish anything.

Another point made by the Committee is higher salaries for government officials. And there are a heck of a lot of government officials that don't earn any part of the salary paid to them. And it is common knowledge that the Federal payroll—especially that of the various executive agencies, bureaus and commissions—is at least double what it should be. Careful studies by Senator Byrd and his colleagues indicate that billions in salaries could be saved with the discharge in toto of most of these bureaus and commissions.

Might Get Out Of Debt
The theory under which the Reorganization Committee was appointed was undoubtedly just another political scheme, and the alleged recommendations to be made by the Committee for this purpose seem highly absurd. It only serves to give the Party in power additional incentive to the man in office to retain his office and obtain for himself more salary. Senator Byrd of Virginia would do the best job for he indicates that the Committee start out by annulling most of the bureaus and firing most of the bureaus' officers. If the government would do this and the President cease his suggestions for additional means of obtaining money for his so-called "Social Security" program, we might get out of debt eventually. Nothing of importance is going to be achieved as long as politics holds priority over theory.

As a matter of fact, our lawmakers are becoming more Socialistic every day and a successful candidate for office has to advocate Simon pure Socialism—satisfy the "Gimmies" absolutely in order to obtain and maintain his place as a salaried official of the United States government.

him of the love and welcome awaiting him.

If every boy in a reformatory were accepted as a true child and brother by his family, visited and written to as regularly and lovingly as if he were in a boarding school, far more of these boys would be re-built into good persons and good citizens.

Better still, knowing beforehand of such love and loyalty from home, far fewer boys would ever go wrong enough to land in a reformatory. As the Good Book says, "Love never faileth." But I've been talking of the brothers and sisters. Well, the moral and spiritual and emotional values to them from such procedure must be manifest, not to mention like values to the parents. ## In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Western Germany, first bankrupted by Adolf Hitler and then crippled by Allied bombardment, emerges as Europe's major problem again with signing of the North Atlantic defense pact.

For Soviet Russia, obviously baffled as to the best and most effective means of combating the great alliance from the viewpoints of prestige and propaganda, has singled out Germany as her whipping-boy.

Not unexpectedly, she revived and amplified the charge that the western allies intend to expand the Atlantic Pact by under-cover rearmament of Germany and that country's eventual inclusion in the agreement itself.

Major Propaganda
The rapid changes that have taken place in the Soviet European set-up since Soviet Russia embarked upon a course certain to alienate the western powers make it appear that this now will be the major facet at Kremlin propaganda.

The Russians always have presented the stand that their policy in Europe is based solely upon determination that Germany militarism never will be allowed to rise again.

They maintain against the arguments of all doubters that this is the guiding—even the sole—aim of the bi-lateral treaties that have brought the satellite nations of the east into their orbit.

The cited fact that these bi-lateral agreements contain specific clauses listing as enemies of the Soviet Union any and all nations assisting Germany in any real or potential aggression against Moscow.

Vague And Timeless
The stipulation then becomes vague and timeless, with interpretation depending upon many factors including to be sure the attitude of Russia itself which has chosen to look upon any revival of western Europe as a dagger against Russia's heart.

In this connection, it is noteworthy that the Soviets complained because they were not invited to join the North Atlantic union.

But at the same time they condemn collective security blocs, citing their own system of individual agreements with neighbor nations as a better alternative. They gloss over entirely existence of the Cominform, an exclusive aggregation of pro-Communists if there ever was one.

The chief advantage for Russia in the current and continuing ideological war is the fact that they have made German recovery the pivotal point of argument.

Propagandists in the Kremlin will make such capital of the knowledge among all Democratic peoples that Nazi Germany, an implacable foe of world democracy.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Two cartoons in different papers attracted my attention today.

One of them was done by E. Simms Campbell and I saw it in the Bridgeport, Conn., Telegram.

A husband was ducking behind a big chair. Two loving cups just thrown were lying beside him. A third one came flying through the air, tossed by his irate wife, a husky woman with superlative pounce.

The caption was "Your beauty contest cups of 1939? I'm glad THEY stayed the same size!"

The second cartoon appeared in "Editor and Publisher," a weekly journal for newspaper people.

It was done by Trent and showed a city editor bawling out a cub reporter who had just turned in his first piece of copy.

The caption: "In covering marriages, just stick to Who, What, Where and When. . . never mind Why!"

Either one of these panels, by itself, would have been amusing. Together they gave me food for thought.

Too many people who get married follow the city editor's formula for reporting.

They think of "Who, What, Where and When," but they forget all about the "Why."

The "Who" is important, of course. The "What," the "Where" and "When" are unimportant.

But the "Why" is the most important factor of them all in marriage.

Why do they want to get married? Because she is beautiful and young? Because he is handsome and has a good position? Because they are tired of living with folks and going restricted by their elders? Because she is weary of working and wants to have a home of her own? Because he wants someone to cook for him, darn his socks, keep house and be on tap whenever he snaps his fingers?

That fellow who was being pelted with loving cups should have known that beauty-contest winners don't stay young and beautiful forever.

Beauty alone is never a valid reason for marriage.

Nor are any of the above mentioned reasons by themselves alone, sufficient for the signing of a pact as solemn as the marriage contract.

Almost every divorce is poignant proof of the fact that the one absolutely necessary element of successful marriage was over-looked—WHY.

Too darn many people go into marriage along the lines of "they're not to reason why, theirs but to do and die."

And, like the old saying they just do and let the marriage die. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

was in the long run merely a re-birth of German imperialism that had to be destroyed a quarter of a century before.

Inevitable Reaction
It is inevitable that any Soviet charges concerning the possibility of Germany becoming once again a world menace should meet with a faint and electrifying reaction in France.

French leaders and the people themselves remain aroused and fearful about re-development of the industrial Ruhr Valley without iron-clad guarantees for protection of France's eastern frontier.

In Washington only last Thursday, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said crisply that France does not want Germany in the Atlantic Pact; that France understandably wants no increase in German stature beyond the strict limitations of post-war allied agreements.

But former Premier Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa, the elder statesman whose words still carry a great deal of weight among the democracies, believes that German inclusion is essential and inevitable.

He also said that Greece and Turkey must be woven into the pattern, and that Africa will follow thereafter.

For the moment, and as of today, the North Atlantic Pact is a solid instrument committing all the democratic nations to fight if need be in case of attack upon any one of them.

Its far-reaching ramifications, evident to most observers from the outset, began to make themselves felt when the first pen was put to paper at the massive state department in Washington.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A FAMILY WHO IS ON RELIEF
Yesterday we considered the needless suffering by many children whose parents find it necessary to accept public assistance, when these parents on this account, feel ashamed. Knowing that the feelings of parents can't be kept wholly hid from their children, we saw how necessary it is for those parents to face the matter squarely and intelligently.

Today I want to plead also for the child who suffers needless inward pain because his parents don't face reality when there is a mentally handicapped child at home or in an institution; when one of the parents or children is in a mental institution; or when a father or son is in a penitentiary or reformatory.

In Institution
What about the children who have a mother or father in an institution for the mentally ill? There are about as many of them as those who have a parent in a regular hospital. But who hears about them? Pathetic it is that most adults (including parents) feel it a kind of social disgrace to be in a mental institution or to have a close friend there. How silly! Why should it be any more to be ashamed of than being in a hospital with pneumonia or a broken leg?

As you can see, the well parent needs for his own sake, for the sake of the other parent in the mental institution, and especially for the sake of the children, to arrive at a healthy, sensible attitude toward being mentally sick. If the children are to escape unnecessary suffering from embarrassment.

What of the growing child whose father is serving sentence in a penal institution, or whose brother is in an industrial school (reformatory)? Barring a few possible exceptions, why should the other parent try to keep the facts hidden from the children?

A certain mother of a boy in a reformatory once wrote me that she had told her two younger sons this brother was in a boarding school, but now that he was soon to be released from the reformatory, she did not quite know how to explain to his brothers.

I entered this mother to come out with the facts at once, to tell those younger sons why she had told them what she did, and to tell their forgiveness; to go with the boys (10 and 12 years old), moreover, to visit their brother before his return home and to assure (Continued on Next Page)

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan (By International News Service)

Newfoundland had no trouble gaining provincial status in Canada but we still have Alaska on a waiting list and no one knows why.

Some say the country just couldn't stand two more senators but we've got some we've hardly used this session.

Sen. Taylor has been busy reforming Birmingham, Alabama, and Alabama can do no less than send its two senators to Idaho to reform Boise in exchange.

That will mean two more absentees along with Sen. Wagner who hasn't punched the clock in two years.

Sen. Wagner hasn't retired. He's of retirement age but Dewey isn't and he has the power of appointment.

Hawaii has no luck in trying to join the club either. Somebody keeps putting a fly in the pot but the way things look we could use all the states we can pick up.

Endurance Test

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Alaska's Governor Is Target

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Given the fumbling of the party in power and the obstruction for obstruction's sake of the party out of power, the wonder is that anything gets done. And the answer, all too often, is that it doesn't.

A minor but nevertheless significant example concerns Alaska. To most Americans, Alaska is a faraway place full of scenery and Eskimos. If they think of it at all, it is as a place that might be nice to go to for a vacation some day.

In reality, of course, Alaska has become one of the most important strategic areas in the world. It lies across a narrow strait from Soviet Siberia. A successful Pearl Harbor attack, followed by occupation of the Alaskan mainland, would be a disaster of a magnitude impossible to exaggerate.

Confirmation Delayed
For many weeks the Senate has delayed confirmation of Alaska's Gov. Ernest Gruening to a third term. As a territory, Alaska has a governor appointed by the federal government for a four-year term.

Gruening, according to most reports, has won wide popularity in Alaska. Those who know the territory say that if Alaskans had the vote and Gruening were running for office, he would get a large majority. As evidence of his popularity, a number of prominent Alaskans flew to Washington to testify in his behalf.

But Gruening has offended certain powerful interests accustomed to thinking of Alaska as their own private province. Shipping, cannery and mining interests have for many years done just about as they pleased in the big, empty territory.

Essence Of Argument
This is the essence of the argument of those who insist, on the larger scale, that military strength alone is not enough. The citizens of a growing, healthy democracy will feel that they have something to fight for if and when the challenge comes.

Sen. Hugh Butler, one of the famous blocking backs of the Nebraska team of Wherry and Butler, is credited with delaying the Gruening nomination in committee. In the 80th Congress, when Butler was chairman of the committee on interior and insular affairs, he had a lot to do with blocking statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

That is the larger issue in the confirmation quarrel. Gruening has established his residence in Alaska and if the territory became a state he would in all probability be one of the two first senators to be elected.

Statehood, it seems to me, is the only practical answer. This solution has its hazards. Some senators, who might otherwise be sympathetic, shake their heads and say that with such a small population, the powerful interests would almost certainly send their own men to Washington.

But that is to confess that democracy will not work. The response to Gruening's constructive program in Alaska is a refutation of such pessimism. The Senate should let him get on with an important job.

Happy Accident Of Senator

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Almost unexplored but highly significant is the background of Dr. Frank P. Graham recently appointed to be Senator from North Carolina.

The appointment was made by Governor W. Kerr Scott, a near unknown in national politics. At the Democratic National Committee, where the appointment was "cleared," Kerr Scott was hardly more than a name in the organization books. A great rustling of files failed to show even the date of his birth. Who was this Kerr Scott (or was his name the other way "round") who had dropped this new Senator into the lap of a grateful administration and a fortunate nation?

Career Like Truman's
Oddly enough, Gov. Scott is a product of the same political times which created the current President of the United States. Scott's 1948 career is startlingly like that of Harry Truman's. A year ago in February, Scott resigned the position of State Commissioner of Agriculture and announced his candidacy for the governorship. Loud were the chuckles and pitying wags of the shakings of Tar Heel heads.

Running against Scott in the all-important Democratic primaries of last spring was State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson, the conservative, hand-picked candidate of the North Carolina political machine. The bankers, the industrialists, the Court House politicians were all behind Thompson, a safe and sane man. The veterans and the youth movement, if any, were backing R. Wayne Albright, an ex-GI candidate. Who was behind Scott? Perhaps the farmers, although Scott had never been an empire builder in his job as Agriculture Commissioner, where he'd been since 1936. He was and is a tall, bulky, fiftyish, bull-in-the-china-shop type of man. As a guest-speaker at civic groups—the Rotary or Chamber of Commerce—he was capable of lashing out rudely at the organizations' most sacred cows. Nobody ever knew what Kerr Scott would do or say next.

Campaigned For Governorship
He campaigned for the governorship in just that fashion. Hedge-hopping by plane, stump-speaking at small gatherings, he anticipated Harry Truman's anti-Wall Street formula by scape-goating the vested interests of Tar Heella—the banks, the industries, the conservative politicians. The newspapers laughed him off. The predictors of election results gave him no chance. But he finished second in the primary, not far behind Thompson and somewhat ahead of Albright. In the run-off, most of Albright's backers went for Scott who won the Democratic nomination, the Southern equivalent of election.

Again like Mr. Truman, Gov. Scott found himself with a legislature showing no enthusiasm for his program. He had won first place on the State ticket, but there were doubts about the "mandate" from the people which he claimed to hold. Except for the State Highway Commission, which obligingly resigned, Gov. Scott did no extensive house-cleaning at Raleigh. He seemed to be waiting for the Legislature to go home before making any number of personal appointments.

Senate Vacancy Occurs
But the U. S. Senate vacancy occurred through the death of J. Melville Broughton on March 6th. Gov. Scott might have used the opportunity to get the senatorship for himself, now or later. He might have rewarded his campaign manager, Capus Wayne, now chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee. But the Governor chose to name Dr. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, a much written-about man of many genuine accomplishments. Possibly the least written-about fact is that Frank Graham could never have been elected in North Carolina and could hardly have been appointed by a less eccentric governor than Kerr Scott.

As for President Truman, he is like a baseball manager whose team pulled off an unexpected double-play. The Graham appointment cut off a Dixiecrat vote in the Senate and added a strong intellectual Claude Pepper, a Southern renegade who last summer briefly became a Truman rival for the Democratic nomination. Nor is Graham, a civil rights advocate, one of the exhibitionist type which joined Henry Wallace in the egg-splattered campaign tour of North Carolina. The new Senator is more like another freshman, Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, a moderate liberal and an independent thinker. Graham can be expected to back the Administration on issues of high principle. He can be expected to bolt the Administration on matters of shifty politics and extreme policy. Such men are good for Harry Truman, good for the South and good for the nation.

They Say

NEW YORK.—Dr. Herbert V. Evans, president of the U. N. General Assembly—"I am more convinced than ever that the principal organ that will help the peoples of the world in achieving world peace is the United Nations."

LONDON.—British Prime Minister Clement Attlee, marking the first anniversary of the European recovery act—"During the last year the whole economic scene of western Europe has been transformed to a degree which was not anticipated by those who recall the uncertainties and perils of the immediate preceding years. This is due to the generosity and far sightedness of the people and government of the United States."

WASHINGTON.—Paul G. Hoffman, E.C.A. administrator—"Unity of action is the concept that holds promise for the future."

WASHINGTON.—Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, scientist attached to the research and development division of the army's general staff—"If one coldly analyzes the use to which (atom) bombs can be put in time of war and one considers that other nations will have the same type of weapons then it is apparent that our military position is actually weakened."

JOBS UPON A TIME
POCAHONTAS was the daughter of an Indian chief, saved the life of an English captain and aided the early American settlers in many ways. She married a young Englishman and accompanied him to England, where she was made much of as a princess and because she was the first Christian convert of her people, being baptized as Rebecca. She contracted tuberculosis in England and died on shipboard as she was about to embark for Virginia. She left one son, and several Virginia families now claim descent from her.

Stronger Labor Department
Another point made by the Reorganization Committee is said to be a bigger, stronger Labor Department. That should not be hard to effect, but the Lord knows that F.D.R.'s choice of a Secretary of Labor—a lady—did not spend much gray matter in the discharge of her duties. F.D.R. was his own Secretary of Labor, in fact. During the War the War Labor Board took over practically all industrial affairs and Truman followed precedent in many cases, although sometimes delegating authority to cabinet members of special commissions. ## Open House Of 229th Thursday

Public Invited To See How
National Guard Units
Fit Into Program

Plans have been completed for greeting the public at Cunningham Armory on Thursday evening, when open house will be observed for all persons in the community, in order to give them an opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the program of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and how it fits into the national security program.

The date had been announced for Wednesday through an error, and although Wednesday is being nationally observed as Army Day, the open house program of the 229th Field Artillery will be on Thursday, Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell, stated today.

Members of the 229th will be on hand to show visitors through the armory, which is located near Cascade Park at the end of Huron avenue, and will explain the various weapons used by the 229th.

Any young men who are interested in serving in the guard with good pay and promotion opportunities will be received and the program of serving at home will be explained to them by officers of the local units, Lt. Col. Mitchell states.

The program will last throughout the evening.

Music Programs Are Scheduled At Westminster

Two attractive music programs are scheduled for Westminster College this week. Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music fraternity, will give a concert Thursday evening while the choir will present a cantata Sunday evening.

"Spring" is the theme of the Mu Phi concert. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental solos and an ensemble number.

Johann Sebastian Bach's cantata, "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison" and the "Five Mystical Songs" by Ralph Vaughan Williams, contemporary British composer, will make up the choir program.

Dr. Ansley Moore, pastor of the Sixth U. P. church, Pittsburgh, will deliver a brief message between choral numbers Sunday evening. He will be here for community Holy Week services.

Soloist for Vaughan Williams' work will be C. Eugene Kingsley, instructor of voice at Duquesne University and soloist in the Sixth U. P. church, Pittsburgh.

Frank Bohnhorst, instructor of music, is director of the choir.

Southern Coal Operators Plan For Negotiations

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS)—Southern coal operators got the jump on John L. Lewis today and started preparations for the annual coal contract negotiations without waiting for the go sign from the veteran union leader.

The existing bituminous wage agreement does not expire until June 30 and Lewis has not announced his 1949 demands. But the "south" is losing no time in getting ready for the battle.

A 14-man policy committee of key southern mine owners held its first meeting in Washington today to begin drafting proposals that the operators would like to have in any new contract with the United Mine Workers.

Fire Menaces Business Area

Firemen Probe For Eight Hours Before Smoldering Fire Is Found

City firemen did a fine job of fire detection late Monday, working for eight hours before they finally discovered the fire to be under the floor of the over of the Theodore Stevens Bakery, at 222½ East Washington street. Only a small amount of damage was done, and firemen placed salvage covers over the fixtures in the bakery to protect them, while they extinguished the fire. Damage amounted to only about $50, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reported.

Smoke was smelled in the buildings adjoining the bakery late in the afternoon, and firemen were summoned to the scene. They smelled the unmistakable odor of wood smoke in the building which houses the bakery, and in adjoining buildings, but it could not be located.

The oven is on the second floor and finally firemen dug up underneath the ceiling from below, the ceiling being covered with metal. Here the fire was discovered. It had burned through the floor in several small spots, and a little air would have started a serious blaze. The fire was finally located and extinguished at 12:40 a. m. Firemen had been on the job the entire time, trying to locate the blaze and at the same time, protect property in that area.

George B. Cowan New Eagles Head

George B. Cowan was elected president of New Castle Aerie, No. 455, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at the annual election which was conducted in the lodge rooms, all day Monday. The election was a spirited one, and the vote was close in all cases where there was a contest for the various offices.

Other officers named were: vice president, J. A. McCracken; chaplain, Dom Christofer; treasurer, Arles A. Crum; conductor, Walter Pilch; inside guard, Frank Peterson; trustee for three years, T. J. Nelson.

The new officers will be installed and take office at the first meeting of the Aerie in June.

In the meantime, work is progressing nicely on the big addition which is being constructed at the lodge home on South Jefferson street, where a two story addition is being built in the rear of the present home. It will be ready for occupancy during the coming year.

Cold Facts can sometimes be very heartwarming, too...

WE HAVE just published our 104th Annual Report to Policyholders as a 40-page illustrated booklet. It tells about the progress New York Life made in 1948 and contains important facts and figures dealing with the financial condition of the Company.

Set off by themselves, the figures tell a story of financial stability. But behind them lie many warm and human stories about the benefits life insurance brings to people in all walks of life everywhere.

It is a fact, for example, that in 1948 New York Life paid over $200,000,000 to policyholders and beneficiaries. This money is helping widows maintain their homes and bring up their children without hardship. It is helping to send sons and daughters to college who otherwise might not have gone. It is helping families enjoy the peace of mind that comes of knowing that the future is financially more secure. It is helping men and women in their old age live without financial worry.

It would be impossible to tell all the stories about all the people who benefit through life insurance policies. But in our Report this year we try, at least, to show what human values the facts and figures of our business often have.

In addition, the Report contains helpful information on "The Problem of Growing Older," as well as a description of an improved service for policyholders so that death benefit payments and policy loans may be expedited, a review of the way the Company has made mortgage money available for housing, and a discussion of the Company's policy in making its investments in 1948.

The essential facts and figures of our 1948 operations will be mailed to policyholders as usual with premium notices. The larger illustrated booklet will gladly be sent upon request.

A few figures from our 104th Annual Report to Policyholders December 31, 1948

Assets totalled $4,448,369,759, an increase of $214,185,161 over the close of the previous year. After deducting $4,181,863,874 of reserves and other liabilities, surplus was $266,505,885, or $35,387,161 more than at the end of 1947.

Sales of new life insurance in 1948 amounted to $857,719,600, which is $335,600 greater than in 1947.

The Company had 3,779,541 policies in force for $9,539,584,229 of life insurance protection on December 31, 1948. The net growth of the Company during the year, as measured by the increase in life insurance in force, was $475,979,615.

The provision for 1949 dividends to policyholders is $45,741,294. New York Life has always been a mutual company and pays dividends to policyholders only.

A copy of the 40-page illustrated 104th Annual Report to Policyholders will gladly be sent to anyone requesting it.

Students Plan For Reception

Making Arrangements For Greetings To New President Of Westminster

ORIGINAL DATE
HAS BEEN CHANGED

Plans of Westminster College students for their reception of Dr. Will W. Orr of Des Moines, Iowa, president-elect, have been altered at his request.

The reception will take place Tuesday evening, April 26, and Wednesday, April 27. It was originally planned to hold the affair Thursday, April 28.

Student Parade
Wednesday's celebration will begin with a student parade headed by the band. There will be floats and displays by campus and community social organizations. The college has given Student Council $110 to divide among the various campus organizations for their floats.

The parade will start at the west entrance to New Wilmington on West Neshannock avenue and end on the South Terrace of Old Main. Dr. and Mrs. Will Orr will award prizes for the best floats. College and town officials will extend greetings to Dr. and Mrs. Orr.

The new president and his wife will then be informally presented to the student body and faculty and escorted to dinner at Ferguson hall by representatives of the Student Council.

Picture Story of U. S. Flag

PRE-INDEPENDENCE FLAGS—Depicted above are banners carried by American patriots when they first took up arms in 1775. At the left is the blue flag with its white crescent which was nailed to the staff at Fort Moultrie by Sergeant Jasper. In the center is the Rattlesnake Flag of the Virginia minute men at Culpeper. At the right is one of the New England pine tree flags.

This is the first Stars and Stripes. The Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, resolved: "That the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." According to legend the five-pointed stars were designed by Mrs. Betsy Ross.

With the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union two stars and two stripes were added to the flag following an Act of Congress in 1794. It was a flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes over Ft. McHenry that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." Congress in 1818 restored the original number of stripes.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

A long time ago a man and a woman lived in a lovely garden. They paid no rent. They did not work. They were amply provided for in every way.

Although they were so well taken care of, there were some rules and regulations. They violated these rules and were put out of the garden and had to work for their living.

Since that time their descendants have had to work. If they want to eat they must perform productive work. There is no other way.

In order to be able to work they must be healthy. There are three things which help people to work.

- 1—Cleanliness of mind and body.
- 2—Rest and recreation.
- 3—Proper food.

Sometimes we feel like a Centipede—on wheels

Ever take a quick look at a string of cars backed up for a traffic light? Looks almost like a centipede on wheels. We've put so many parts and so much of our skill into those cars that sometimes, just looking at them, we ourselves feel like a centipede on wheels.

A Chevrolet dealer's basic job is to provide reliable, economical transportation. We have two ways to do it—by supplying Chevrolet cars and trucks to you folks, and by repairing and servicing the vehicles you already have.

The war put the kibosh on the first way. After the war, Chevrolet led the field trying to catch up . . . was first to build a million vehicles in a post-war year . . . since the war has built over half a million more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer.

Still more folks want Chevrolets. Until they get them, it's up to us to keep the cars they have on the road. We can do it. We have good, steady mechanics and parts men. We back them up with up-to-the-minute testing equipment and tools. We have a continuous factory-training program to keep our men up on new and better ways to keep your car purring.

And when cars are plentiful again, traffic lines will still make us feel like a centipede on wheels. It's our job to see that your car operates smoothly and economically whether it's been on the road for months or years.

Meanwhile, we're supporting 100% Chevrolet's established policy of delivering to the public as many cars as possible at lowest possible prices.

SEVEN REASONS WHY YOU'LL LIKE OUR SERVICE

In our shop, Chevrolet Super-Service means:

1. Factory-trained mechanics who are steady and competent.
2. Plenty of tools and the right kind of equipment to help them do good work fast.
3. A huge stock of genuine factory parts.

4. Established prices for parts, repairs and service.
5. All work guaranteed.
6. Liberal budget plan.

7. A friendly desire to give you more than you expect for your money.

America's most important building program

Even with accurate scale models like these, building is no easy matter these days. But around 900,000 families will move into new or enlarged homes this year. If you've ever built, you know that each one has the most important building program in the country.

One of the most important—in size—is the construction program of the business-managed electric companies. In order to keep up with the increasing demand for light and power, these companies, hundreds of them, are building new plants, lines and equipment that will cost billions of dollars in all.

Why? Well, your appetite for electric service—like everybody's—is growing bigger and bigger. New users of electricity—babies and businesses—are being born in record numbers. We're catching up with the construction we couldn't do during the war.

This expansion of the self-supporting electric companies is one of the biggest peacetime construction jobs in history. The entire job is being done without the use of government money. Millions of men and women, from all walks of life, are investing their savings to make possible much more power for America.

Vitamin C Advocated For Polio Treatment

Dr. Risser, Bone Specialist, In His Speech To American Nutrition Academy

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—(INS) —The use of vitamin C in the treatment of polio was advocated Monday by Dr. Joseph C. Risser, Pasadena, Cal., bone specialist and president-elect of the American Academy of Applied Nutrition.

Dr. Risser told the closing session of the academy's national meeting in Los Angeles that lack of vitamin C in the diet is dangerous to bone health.

He explained that the vitamin supplies calogen, the intercellular material which deposits calcium in the bones.

Dr. Risser contended there is a direct relationship between polio susceptibility and vitamin C in foods.

He said fatigued limbs which have lost great amounts of vitamin C through perspiration are easy prey to polio. He added:

"Incidence of vitamin C in foods is highest in autumn, lowest in spring, and the polio rate is just the reverse."

U. S. High Court Backs State On Picketing Order

State Can Halt Picketing If It Violates State Laws Restraining Of Trade

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS) —The Supreme Court held Monday that a state can halt peaceful union picketing if it violates state laws against restraint of trade.

The court's unanimous decision upheld an anti-picketing order against the Ice and Coal Drivers and Handlers union (AFL) in Kansas City.

The union had picketed the Empire Storage and Ice Co., Kansas City, in an attempt to force the firm to sell ice only to union peddlers.

The Missouri courts held that picketing was for an illegal aim and could be banned under a state law against unlawful combinations in restraint of trade.

The court's opinion, written by Justice Black, asserted that "nothing in the constitutional guarantees of speech or press compels a state to apply or not to apply its anti-trade restraint law to groups of workers, businessmen or others."

Miss Temoy McFate Back From Festival

Miss Temoy McFate, Park avenue, this city, supervisor of music at the Wampum schools, has returned from Pottsville, where she attended the choral festival of high schools of Pennsylvania during the past week.

state of Pennsylvania who vied for this honor. Delegates at the state festival were selected at nine district choral events conducted throughout the state. Between 150 and 250 singers participated in each district event.

The festival idea was created following organization of the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association in 1936. Each year an all-state event is held for singers and also for orchestras and bands. The All-State Orchestra Festival was conducted in February at Greensburg, and the All-State Band Festival will be conducted at Bradford, in May.

ARMY DAY-APRIL 6

"U. S. ARMY--PART OF THE TEAM FOR SECURITY"

NEW CASTLE, PENNSYLVANIA

Attend Army Day Ceremonies On the Diamond at Noon Wednesday, April 6th

MR. LOUIS B. ROUND

Mr. Round, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Power Company and president of Greater New Castle Association, will be the principal speaker on Army Day, April 6th.

The 51st Army Band, pictured above, will present a program of concert music at the Post Office Building on Army Day, April 6th, under the direction of Captain Robert M. Rudolph. The band's home station is Ft. George G. Meade, Maryland. In the next few days, the band will perform in various parts of Western Pennsylvania in observance of Army Day celebrations.

LT. COL. GEORGE F. MITCHELL

Lt. Col. Mitchell, commanding officer 229th Field Artillery Battalion, has designated Battery "C", of Grove City to conduct the air-ground artillery mission scheduled for Army Day.

April 6th is Army Day! It serves a Reminder that strong forces Make America a power for lasting peace. You can share in this vital program by: Displaying your American Flag. Attending Army Day events and giving Your support to our men in uniform.

What Is ARMY DAY?

Army Day is the day set aside by the American people to honor the institution which they maintain with their money and men. It falls on April 6th. It is the day when the Army reports directly to the people, explaining what it is doing and what it plans to do. It is the day when the Army invites young men and women of America to look over the opportunities offered by a military career. It is the day when the army asks the people to attend special exhibits, parades, etc., to get a better understanding of their great defensive team. It is the day when the Army reviews with pride the accomplishments of the past in peace and war. From the gallant continental army and militia under General Washington, to the expedition into the wilderness by Captains Lewis and Clark, to the conquest of yellow fever, to making the Mississippi a navigable river from near its head—in Minnesota to the delta, to its last great undertaking, atomic fission.

The purpose of Army Day not only provides an occasion for the Army to report to the people on its world-wide assignments and activities, but also an opportunity for the people to pay tribute to this service. Army Day will stress the Army's role as a member of the national security team. The Army is determined that unification shall work. It is working with the other services toward a common goal: Security.

There is a need for Army Day, for in order to discharge its grave responsibilities the Army and its civilian components—the National Guard, Organized Reserve, and ROTC—need public understanding and support. The Army also needs, in order to continue its high standards, intelligent, alert young men and women who voluntarily choose military service. The Army desires to maintain its authorized strength by a volunteer enlistment program.

The Army today offers remarkable opportunities to ambitious youth who can qualify. It operates more than 60 technical courses giving the world's best training in such subjects as Radar, Radio, Meteorology, Photography, Automotive Mechanics. There's good pay, financial security, chance for advancement, travel, and retirement benefits. A soldier can continue his formal education, obtaining credits in a wide variety of subjects at the high school or college level by off-duty study through the U. S. Armed Forces Institute. High school graduates can apply from civilian life for admission to army officer candidate school. Graduates of the 24-week course are commissioned as second lieutenants in the Officers Reserve Corps and placed on active duty. Women have similar opportunities.

What Is An ARMY?

Many persons speak of an Army without understanding what an Army is. Perhaps the easiest way to understand the organization of an army is to "take apart" the smallest team within the Army which contains all the arms and most of the services. By this we mean the division.

The arms, as you would imagine, are the elements or branches whose primary mission is to engage in combat or combat support. The services are the branches whose primary mission is to furnish administrative or logistical and technical support to the arms.

In our army, divisions are of two basic types: the infantry division and the armored division. Let's examine the infantry division whose basic mission is to seize and hold ground. There are now two types of infantry divisions—the older "normal" infantry division and the newer airborne division. The normal infantry division is composed of three infantry regiments. This organization lends itself to the formation of three basic groups called regimental combat teams. The regimental combat team is built around the infantryman. The units and other arms and services are for one purpose. To support and assist the infantryman. The airborne division is not greatly different from the normal infantry division, less some of its heavier weapons, but it is completely organized, trained, and equipped to movement by air.

There are three kinds of armored divisions: the armored division, the armored cavalry, and the armored cavalry group. The armored division is a striking force which includes all the arms. It has more tanks, however, and it further differs from the infantry division in that all of its personnel are mounted in vehicles. Thus, the two distinguishing features of the armored division are: (1) Heavy striking power and (2) great mobility. Another type of armored cavalry unit is the armored cavalry regiment (light). This regiment is not equipped for heavy combat, but are of great value in reconnaissance. Still another type of armored cavalry unit is the group. Every corps (a group of several divisions) normally has an armored cavalry group, consisting principally of three heavy tank battalions, like those of the infantry and armored divisions.

To supplement our ground forces we have various types of artillery. The field artillery exists for one purpose: to support the infantry and the armor both on the offense and on the defense by continuous fire. The seacoast artillery provides a defense of vital shore installations and harbors against attack by planting controlled submarine mines and employing rapid-fire fixed and mobile guns. Every ground force division has one battalion of anti-aircraft artillery which can be used for ground targets as well as air targets.

The services supporting the combat arms, stretching sometimes for thousands of miles, is a vast network of supply and administrative services, without which the arms would be helpless. The services are classified as administrative type and technical type.

This team together with the Navy and the Air Force joins to form the great land-sea-air team of our national military establishment, whose goal is Security and Peace.

Seventeen-Year-Old Girl Is Being Held
On Murder ChargeWaukegan Girl Shoots 52-Year-Old School Clerk In 'Love Triangle,' Police Say

WAUKEGAN, Ill., April 5.—(INS)—A 17-year-old Waukegan girl is to be charged today for the "love triangle" murder of a 52-year-old school clerk who refused to break up his home to marry her.

Wilbur Brazell, assistant state's attorney for Lake county, said formal charges would be filed against Joyce Schumaker for the fatal shooting of Carl Reeder, also of Waukegan.

Police quoted the girl admitting freely that the killing climaxed an argument over Reeder's refusal to sue his wife, Gladys, 51, for divorce after the teen-ager had been intimate with the clerk over "a long period."

Miss Schumaker was arrested when she brought Mrs. Reeder to the Victory Memorial Hospital, where she had taken Reeder after the shooting late yesterday.

Bessemer High
To Present Play

Junior class of Bessemer will present "So Help Me Hannah" Friday, April 8, at 8:00 p.m. in the High School auditorium. This is a three-act comedy which takes place in the Bascomb living room in a thriving American city. The time is the present.

Willis Bascomb never could say no, and as a consequence his room is cluttered with many useless and unpaid articles. When a mysterious stranger, Willie the Whisper, offers to sell him a violin, he buys it—with mother's money. Mrs. Bascomb is called away suddenly and Willie, Joan, (his sister) and Hannah (his fiancée) have to entertain the socially prominent Mrs. Van Aster and her daughter. Complications occur when the cook leaves and unexpected company arrives in time for dinner. In the meantime Willie has made a bet with his friend Freddie that he, Willie, can say no to everything and everybody for twenty-four hours. The events which follow provide a hilarious evening at the Bascomb home.

Ask New Bus Line For Neshannock

P.U.C. Examiner Hears Petition Monday To Establish Two New Bus Routes

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Two petitions for new bus service in Neshannock township and through to New Wilmington and Mercer were heard Monday in the commissioners' room. P.U.C. Examiner Edwin Doran presided. Thomas R. McComb is the petitioner and asks for the following rights. From the bus depot on North Jefferson street, up Jefferson street, across Wilmington avenue to the city line, thence over Route 18 and Township Route 351 to Route 37.041 and 37.039, then back to 18 and into New Castle. This would serve a large section of the township.

The second petition asks rights to haul passengers from the bus depot over North street to Mill, up Mill and Highland to Hazelcroft avenue, over Hazelcroft to Highway 18 to New Wilmington and Mercer. A large delegation of Neshannock citizens appeared in favor of the petition. It is opposed by the West Ridge System.

CIVIL COURT

Civil court opened in the court house Monday morning with both court rooms in service.

In court room number one the case of Erma I. Seamans versus George E. and Isabelle Waters was heard.

The plaintiff seeks to evict the defendants from a strip of land facing on East Washington street which she claims the defendants occupy illegally.

This is the second time the case has been heard a previous suit having resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff. A new trial was granted.

In court room number two, the case of Tony Mazi versus W. S. McAnlis and Robert C. McAnlis was heard. In this case the plaintiff seeks to recover large damages for injuries received when the car of the defendant is alleged to have hit that of two plaintiffs.

Mr. Mazi claims he was parked on the Mount Jackson-Bessemer highway on November 15, 1946 when a car driven by Robert McCandless ran into him. He was badly injured and lost an eye as one result of the accident.

Jap Store Troubled Since Last Quake

Government Charges Japan's Biggest Department Store Earner Owes Taxes

FUKUI, Japan, April 5.—(INS) It's been nothing but trouble for Fukui's modernistic concrete Daiwa department store since last spring's disastrous earthquake.

The quake that leveled the town left the huge structure sagging drunkenly amid a sea of ashes.

Shortly afterward the building was dynamited because the hanging masonry threatened public safety.

Last week the city taxation office took over the remains of the store for taxes.

City officials said its owner, one of Japan's biggest money earners the year before, had failed to pay his 3030 million yen income tax.

They hope to sell the department store site including what steel is salvageable from the wreckage at a public auction within a few weeks.

Headless Rooster Crows And Struts

Veterinarian Says That Rooster's Brain Was Possibly Left In Neck

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—(INS) —A veterinarian offered a possible explanation Monday for a headless rooster that continues to crow and strut, apparently unconcerned over the loss of its head.

Dr. T. G. Bear said a part of the rooster's brain, controlling respiration and circulation, probably was left in the neck.

He explained that movements are controlled by the chicken's spinal cord and that no fowl could live without a brain, although this bird is giving a pretty good imitation of it.

Mrs. Martha Green bought the bird at a market Saturday. Its head had been severed at the shoulders several hours before.

Mrs. Green put the rooster in the sink, planning to prepare it for Sunday's dinner when the bird stood up and crowed.

When Mrs. Green recovered from the shock, she made plans to keep the rooster alive as long as possible. She is feeding it milk and egg yolk by inserting an eye dropper in its neck.

Dr. Bear said the rooster should live as long as its windpipe and throat are kept open. Mrs. Green said:

"God has lots of ways of showing us things. Perhaps if someone could study this rooster, a way would be found to prolong life."

Mrs. Green's headless rooster revived the memory of a beheaded chicken which a Colorado rancher kept alive for more than a month several years ago. However, only a portion of its head was gone.

Final Report Made On Christmas Seals

Seal Sale In Last Campaign Equals 1947 Collection Figures Here

Final report of the 1948 Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale was announced today by Seal Sale Chairman John C. Syling. The drive did not make the goal of $16,000 but the collections in the last campaign equalled those of the 1947 drive.

The total amount received in the annual pre-Christmas campaign was $14,075.07. Of this total, $2,066.74 was collected as a result of seal sales in Ellwood City.

Special gift health bonds provided $1,551 of the collection and the sale of bangles and seals in special booths was the source of $367.63.

The National Tuberculosis organization will use $91.83 of the amount contributed here for research. Another $1,744.88 is forwarded to the state organization. The balance of $12,238.36 is used in Lawrence county.

Mrs. Jane Cochran, executive secretary, said that small contributions continue to come in the office but is not anticipated that there will be any appreciable change in the totals already announced.

STATE OFFICES TO CLOSE, GOOD FRIDAY

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The third Charles Scribner to occupy the presidency of his firm (the fourth is working his way up) has held the post since 1932. He is rarely perturbed by the perplexing problems of the book business but when the time approaches for his daily dash to the train home to Far Hills, his subordinates notice a growing look of concern on his face.

Scribner's object, and that of a few other commuters and friends, is to get settled in the club car and launched on a rubber of bridge before an elderly acquaintance, who plays abominably, manages to horn in on the game. The plan has never succeeded to date, but they all keep trying. Their present theory is that the unwelcome contestant hides in the washroom of the car all day while it stands in the yards, for he is on hand to greet them no matter how early they arrive at the station.

Scribner drew him as a partner one day and nearly fainted when he heard him bid six no-trump, but felt reassured when he saw the lay of the cards. "Even HE can't miss this one," whispered Scribner—but he was wrong. His partner revoked. Scribner swears that another day the fellow absent-mindedly picked up two hands by mistake, carefully arranged the 26 cards, and bid, "One spade."

Citizens Asked To Support Army Day

Army Day Traditionally Time For Army To Explain Itself To Community

Captain John J. Gluch, local Organized Reserve Corps unit instructor, today called upon citizens of New Castle to take part in observance of Army Day, April 6.

"Army Day traditionally is the time for the Army to explain itself to the community," Captain Gluch added. "But it also presents an opportunity for the public to demonstrate its interest in what the Army is doing."

Captain Gluch pointed out that every citizen has a stake in the Army. "In the occupied countries, the Army represents the American people. Our soldiers are there because communities such as New Castle want them there. They are merely an expression of the citizens' desire for security."

"The community pays for the Army with its money and supports it with its men. Army Day is the day the Army makes its report to the people."

Never before in peacetime has the Army been charged with a greater task, Captain Gluch stated.

Army's Pool
Backing up the regular Army, Captain Gluch added, is a great pool of experienced men. This pool includes the Army's civilian components—the National Guard, the Organized Reserves, and the ROTC.

"From these sources," Captain Gluch explained, "the Army will draw much of the manpower in any demand for sudden expansion."

On Army Day the Organized Reserve Corps office, second floor, Greer building, and the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, room 400 Frew building, will hold "open house" and all citizens are invited to visit and familiarize themselves with the work of the Army.

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—Off the celluloid cuff:
Paulette Goddard and Hubby Burgess Meredith will shortly open antique shops in New York City and Hollywood. Paulette, who has never been on the stage, also is shopping for a Broadway play.

Another movie myth was exploded when Charlotte Greenwood couldn't join the Toppers club, an outfit composed of beautiful dolls who are six-feet two-inches tall. For publicity purposes the actress claims she is six-feet tall and dresses to look even lankier. Actually she is five-feet eight.

Avid Stamp Collector
Character Actor Arthur Shields, who is Barry Fitzgerald's kid brother, is Hollywood's most avid stamp collector. He makes more dough trading and selling postage stamps than many actors do working in front of the cameras.

Ken Murray's perpetual vaudeville show, "Blackouts," will be filmed for the first time in George Raft's latest flicker, "Red Light." The stage stunt figures importantly in the plot. . . . Michael O'Shea, whose pop was a blacksmith, is one of movietown's finest horsemen. He owns a 3600-acre ranch in Arizona. . . . When Robert Hutton was a kid he was so shy that his old man made him go to dramatic school before allowing him to enter Dartmouth to study law.

"Hellfire," the Bill Elliott hooey, is the first picture since 1934 to contain the word hell in the title. The Johnston office censors ok'd it because the theme is based on the Biblical quotation, "Man with his misdeeds kindles his own hellfire."

New Plastic Skin
Robert Ryan wears $25,000 worth of make-up in RKO's fight film, "The Set-up."

Four years ago the studio earmarked that amount of dough to be spent in research and experimentation on a plastic used for facial prostheses on veterans disfigured during the war.

Gordon Bau, studio make-up wizard, finally evolved a new transparent, flexible substance so closely resembling actual skin that it is virtually undetectable. Ryan wears it for the first time to acquire cauliflower ears and other battle scars in his role of a battered prize fighter in this ring drama.

Roy Hires Comedian
Roy Rogers has a new comedy foil in his Republic pictures. Pat Brady, formerly a comedian and bull fiddle player with the western musical group, Sons of the Pioneers, has been signed to play Roy's pal in all his tricolor films. Pat's comedy spot with Roy practically guarantees him a place on the list of top ten western favorites, since both of Roy's previous partners, George (Gabby) Hayes and Andy Devine, rated high on the annual western polls after having joined the series. Pat's character name will be Sparrow Biffie.

Desk In W. Penna.
May Be Lincoln's

Curator Of Historical Society Of Western Pennsylvania May Have Lincoln's Desk

PITTSBURGH, April 5.—(INS)—Lawrence Thurman, museum curator of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania, hopes a small portable desk and an inkstand will be verified as genuine property of Abraham Lincoln.

If the objects are verified by the best Lincoln authorities, it will mark one of the district's most important historical discoveries.

Some writing on the desk pad matches that of a Lincoln letter which the society possesses. A blotter card is signed "A. Lincoln, Springfield, Ill., 1853." The same signature with the date "1854" was scratched on the inkstand.

The desk, inkstand, blotter card and desk pad are part of a collection which was acquired years ago by the late Thomas Mellon II. Recently the Mellon estate gave the objects—along with other material—to the society when the old Forsythe log house in Pittsburgh was torn down.

Peace Talks Start In Peiping Today

NANKING, April 5.—(INS)—Formal peace discussions are to get under way in Peiping today between the Chinese government and the communists.

Official sources in Nanking said the peace talks are to reach the formal stage after four days during which delegates exchanged views on a broad scale.

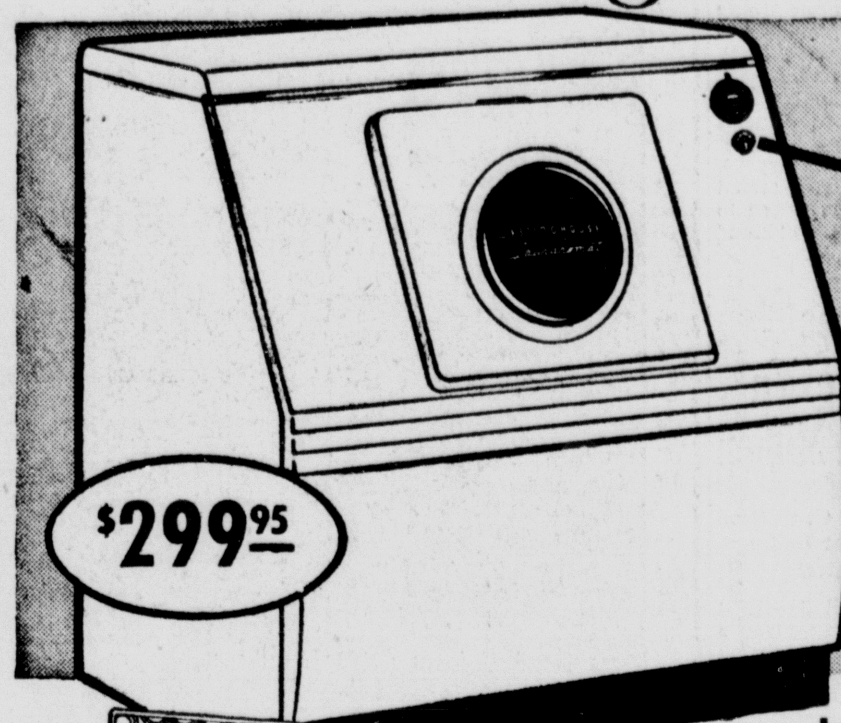

A government spokesman said he did not know whether a cease fire is to be discussed. (Reports circulated in Shanghai that a cease fire based on the Yangtze river front would be proclaimed today.)

Fingerprinting was not applied scientifically to identification work until the 19th century.

Symphonic Notes

The symphony orchestra is the greatest, the most expensive and the most powerful of musical instruments. It is one instrument, though it is made up of the voices of nearly all the recognized musical instruments. It does not speak as an aggregation of voices, a con-course of sound; rather it speaks with one voice, and that, a voice capable of an infinite variety of inflection, of color; a voice possessing a range of dynamic power extending from the faintest whisper of sound to the deafening crash of thunder; a voice able to double and triple and multiply itself many times—yet always one voice. Unity is the essence of the symphony orchestra. It is then, one instrument, to be played upon ever so delicately, ever so magnificently, always with one purpose.

The premiere of the New Castle Symphony will be on Friday, May 20, 1949, and will give the music lovers of New Castle an opportunity to hear a local group of musicians that are building a permanent symphony orchestra for New Castle.

Scranton Transit Strike Continues

SCRANTON, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—Trolley and bus operators continued today a strike which has crippled transit facilities in Scranton, the state's third largest city, since Sunday.

Unconfirmed reports indicated that the Scranton good-will committee, a civic group, would be called upon to attempt a settlement of the wage dispute, involving about 45 pounds, and a man's about 80.

UNUSUAL LAWS

British War Bride Now At Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. William Kleckner Arrive In City Following Wedding In England

Born in India, married in England and housekeeping in the United States is the story of Mrs. William Kleckner, nee Miss Brenda Drake, of 413 Park avenue, who has recently arrived in the city with her husband following their wedding in London on February 12.

The former Miss Drake is amazed at the swift pace the Americans go, is gradually becoming accustomed to the American way of life and adopting our customs as she pursues her new duties as a housewife.

Her father, Captain Arthur Drake, was at duty with the British army in India at the time of Brenda's birth, who later made her home in London. Her husband flew to England for the wedding but due to technicalities had to leave his bride behind while he flew home, she later following on the Queen Mary. Mrs. Kleckner was a member of the Women's Air Force in England.

The lovely wedding took place in St. Mary's Episcopal church of London and was attended by relatives of the bride. Mr. Kleckner met his wife while he served two years in England with the armed forces of the U. S. He is employed at the Valley Manufacturing company.

Russian Marshall Josef Stalin's son, Vassili, is a major-general and jet pilot in the Soviet air force.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

The Family "Gripe" Session

Not every good idea will work in all families. And some people may not even think this is a good idea. At least one family found it worked very well, however. So here it is—the family "gripe" session.

The Jones parents were "fed up" with griping. Too often, they found meals were being made unpleasant because childish quarrels arose or because food was being criticized. Scolding only made matters worse. Finally, Mrs. Jones remembering the "truth sessions" of her girlhood, suggested that at one mealtime during the week, the "lid be taken off."

Anytime might say anything about the food they wished and criticize one another freely.

After this plan had been followed for a few weeks, she was ready to recommend it to all her friends.

"We've never had such hilarious good times," she said. "Somehow or other, there's no sting to criticisms. They're just funny and we all try to think up the worst things we can say. It's a fine safety valve."

Maybe the people in your family won't take to the idea as did the Joneses. But perhaps it's worth a try as a good means to drain off hard feelings instead of having them stored up.

Vets In Training May Be Forced To Return Some Money

Unemployment Compensation May Have To Be Returned By Vets In Training

SCRANTON, Pa., April 5.—(INS)—The possibility loomed Monday that veterans who received state unemployment compensation payments while attending G. I. training schools may have to return the grants.

The situation arose from a ruling by Compensation Referee Theodore R. Jones that Harold P. Ganz of Scranton, was not entitled to compensation since subsistence payment for attending a training school constituted "compensation for loss of wages."

The decision will be final unless an appeal is filed with the Compensation Board of Review by the end of the week.

Ganz had been refused compensation at the Scranton office of the State Employment Service because he was "not available for job referral" due to the fact that he was attending a G. I. training school.

Ganz denied this and appealed to the referee, who sustained the district office ruling that he was ineligible.

CHURCH ORGAN TRAPS PIGEON IN BOSTON

BOSTON, April 5.—(INS)—An adventurous pigeon went to church and played hob with the sermon of Msgr. Daniel J. Donovan.

The bird tumbled into one of the pipes of the St. James church organ and his cooing, magnified many times, drowned out the voice of the pastor.

The pigeon finally was freed by Henry Werner, who climbed 65 feet from the church main floor to release the imprisoned bird.

Defense Secretary Makes Speech At Commissioning Ceremonies In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Johnson predicted Monday that it will be many years "before we find a real, abiding peace in this troubled world."

Johnson spoke at the Philadelphia Naval Base during commissioning ceremonies of the navy's new 17,000-ton cruiser, the USS Roanoke.

The defense secretary said: "New and shiny as she (the Roanoke) is today, I am afraid she will be a weatherbeaten, seasoned veteran of the seven seas before we find real, abiding peace in this troubled world."

The $30,000,000 vessel is the second to bear the name of the Virginia city of which Johnson is a native. His speech at the commissioning was his first public address since taking over as defense secretary last week.

Many Missions
The Roanoke will have a complement of 51 officers and 922 enlisted men under command of Capt. J. D. Kelsey, of Silver Spring, Md. Johnson said that "during tense years that lie ahead, our fine fleet has many missions to perform." He explained:

"It will watch the sea lanes vital to our national existence.

"It will carry our flag on friendly visits to all quarters of the world. It will rescue our citizens, if need be, from troubled areas overseas.

"Our safety lies in the combined contribution of . . . each service in the sphere it is best equipped to control.

"This relationship has been carefully worked out, and it will be closely adjusted to combat training in the very near future."

Gen. Clark Knows Nothing Of Defense Chairman Rumor

Nothing Official Of His Being Named Chairman Of Pact Defense Committee

NEW YORK, April 5.—(INS)—Gen. Mark Clark said Monday he "knows nothing official" about the possibility of his being named chairman of the Joint Defense committee to be set up under provisions of the North Atlantic Pact. The commander of the Sixth Army, who frequently has been mentioned as likely candidate for the post, declared he knows about the rumors, but "only because the press has been asking me about it."

Clark said another rumor he is going to check in Washington is that he is slated to replace Gen. Lucius Clay as American military governor of Germany. The general looked ruddy and fit on his return from a 37-day vacation in Brazil.

MOTT LEFT $300 FOR PARROTS CARE

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—(INS)—Polly de Rolli, a parrot that whistles and sings, has something special to sing about Monday.

Her late master, George A. Mott, retired farmer from Hampton, La., left $300 for her care in his will, filed for probate in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Mott, who died last January 29, leaving a $50,000 estate, directed that Polly's money be entrusted to a new owner when someone "kind" is found.

Senate Approves China Foreign Aid Of 54 Million

Stipulates President Can Send Money To Areas Not Under Communist Control

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(INS)—The Senate Monday approved a foreign aid amendment permitting President Truman to spend a balance of 54 million dollars on China aid in areas "not under Communist domination."

The action came on a voice vote which appeared to be unanimous although Sen. Langer (R) N. D., later announced that he had voted "No."

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., Foreign Relations chairman, accepted the China amendment sponsored by Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., contending that it did not differ greatly from one he had offered.

The authorization makes the balance of China funds available to the president for obligation through February 15, 1950.

But it stipulates its use in "areas in China where he (the president) may deem to be not under Communist domination."

SEVEN TRAINS IN CARAVAN OF HOPE

NEW YORK, April 5.—(INS)—Seven trains rolled through the country today in the United Jewish Appeal's "Caravan of Hope" to raise $250,000,000.

Three thousand persons watched the departure of the New York section on Monday, which will carry exhibits of Israeli progress to St. Louis.

Simultaneously other trains left Washington, Boston, New Haven, Chattanooga, Peoria and San Francisco.

Funds For Truman's Farm Program Okayed By House Committee

Administration Request For Funds For Its Farm Program Of 1950 Approved

By RAYMOND WILCOVE (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Truman's request for funds to finance the administration's farm program for the 1950 fiscal year emerged virtually unscathed Monday from the House Appropriation committee.

The committee voted 701 million 122 thousand dollars for the new fiscal year beginning July 1, a cut of only 25 million 748 thousand, less than four percent, below the 726 million 920 thousand requested by the administration.

Furthermore, the committee authorized the Rural Electrification administration to borrow from the treasury up to 500 million dollars for expansion of its facilities in place of the 350 million dollars requested.

The committee rescinded 189 million dollars previously appropriated to the department by Congress, but this action was taken at the administration's request.

In addition to the new cast provided by the committee, the Agriculture department will also have at its disposal for the coming year 139 millions in permanent appropriations on which annual action by Congress is not required.

The Department of Agriculture will thus have available for expenditure during the coming year approximately 840 million dollars in new funds, plus funds previously appropriated but not yet expended.

The small cut in the Agriculture department's budget brought to approximately 409 million dollars the amount slashed so far from the president's record peacetime

Senator Neff Denounces Bill

Lawrence County Senator Assails Practical Nursing Licensing Bill

HARRISBURG, April 5.—(INS)—Much disputed practical nursing legislation today was before the house after leaving the senate on a wave of bi-partisan opposition.

The measure was denounced by Sen. Samuel G. Neff (D) Lawrence, on grounds it was "motivated as a basis for cheaper labor of hospitals". It was sponsored by Sen. Leroy E. Chapman (R) Warren.

"This measure will mean the elimination of the registered nurse and her high standards of efficiency," Neff said.

He said the Chapman bill provides for a practical nurse to be licensed if she has had one year of high schooling and nine months of special training—"entirely too little".

Sen. William J. Lane (D) Washington, differed with his Democratic colleague and said "all this bill does is standardize nursing".

Chapman blasted Neff's argument as "ill-founded" since hospitals "need practical nurses now to take from the registered nurses the menial tasks they must perform for lack of help."

Varipapa Bowls In ABC Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 5.—(INS)—Andy Varipapa, of Hempstead, N. Y., last "name bowler" to participate tonight will lead his team in the waning 1949 American Bowling Congress championships.

Varipapa, two-time national individual match game champion and a former national doubles match game champ, is well known for his famous trick shots.

Andy will have to employ his entire bag of tricks to top the 3027 with which the Jimmie Smith's of South Bend, Ind., have led the five-man event since March 14.

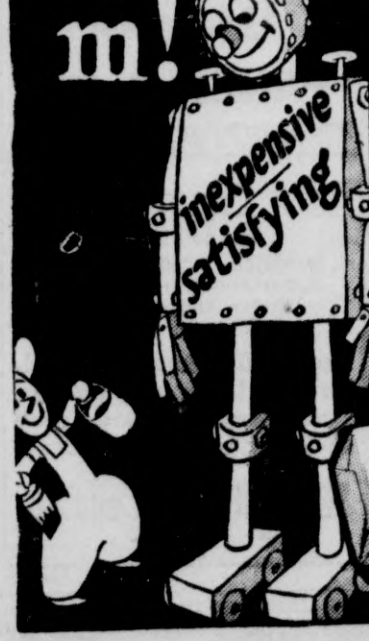

Only 344 more teams from an original list of 5,444 have yet to bowl in the squad event in which competition ends Friday night. The 46th annual ABC bowling classic will officially wind-up Saturday afternoon with doubles and singles.

"VIOLENT" RAY PLANS TO RETIRE

PALATKA, Fla., April 5.—(INS)—Elmer "Violent" Ray, suffering from a slight brain concussion as a result of his recent exhibition bout with Joe Louis, is quitting the heavyweight business for good.

The Negro ring veteran said that he is retiring "while I've still got my health."

Ray, who lives at Hastings, Fla., near Palatka, is being treated for the concussion which his physician is "clearing up."

Giosa Decisions

Percy Bassett

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(INS)—Eddie Giosa, rugged South Philadelphia puncher, held an upset triumph over Percy Bassett today but faced a month of ring inactivity.

Giosa, 136½, gained a unanimous 10-round decision over Bassett, 128½-pound Negro, at the Arena but suffered a deep cut over his right cheekbone in the final frame.

Bassett, losing his second bout in 30 pro battles, dropped Eddie for an eight-count in the first. But the ring-wise Giosa out-slicked the Negro boxer and effectively spiked his potent right hand.

CIVITELLO SETS NEW TRACK RECORD

BOWIE, Maryland, April 5.—(INS)—Jockey Ben Civitello is the toast of the racing world today. The sensational apprentice rode six straight winners at Bowie yesterday. This tied a Maryland record.

Only seven racing days of the current Bowie meeting have been consumed yet in that time Civitello has collected 15 winners.

TROUT SEASON OPENS FRIDAY APRIL THE 15TH

When April comes fishermen can be seen along the trout streams. If the water is high the fishermen's lines will be baited with earth worms, but as soon as the high waters become clear and normal the worms will be discarded and the fly fisherman will have a fine time of seasonal sport. Some old-timers have no use for flies. They say that wiggling worms will catch trout everytime. One of the finest fish in our waters today is the native brook trout, this beautiful fish when on the spawning beds in October has a body color that far surpasses many tropical fish. Whether fishing for the brook, brown or rainbow the catch depends upon skill. Anyone who catches the silver sided rainbow with its violet stripes will be matching his wits with a fish that will fight the hook, and leap high out of the water, and when the reckless ones jump they seem to tie themselves into knots time after time. The rainbow has the habit of being on the move, and because of this the fish is harder to catch. The rainbow is a fast fish and when one has a stinging hook in his mouth he can take out a lot of line before he is checked. Many a big rainbow gets away because a fisherman gets careless, as this fine fish uses his speed, and strength to get away. Scientists say that fish have no power to think. This may be true but many a trout fisherman thinks different. When they place a stream, and time after time place a fly right among trout that are surface feeding, and when they do not get a "strike" begin to think the fish are educated, and the fish know the difference from the finest fly made to that of the real insects on the water. The spawning season of the Rainbow is in the spring.

Church Golfers Have Meeting

Five Teams Send Captains, Plan To Open At Castle Hills Thursday, May 12

New Castle church golfers held their initial meeting of the 1949 season at Figuly's last night and five churches had representatives present. It is planned to open the league Thursday, May 12, at the beautiful Castle Hills course. The meeting was conducted by President Lou Lautenslager; Vice-President Al Figuly; treasurer, Blair Alverson; secretary, Tom Baum; and assistant secretary, Jimmy Dart.

The next meeting will be held at the Castle Hills clubhouse April 18th at 8 o'clock at which time it is hoped that at least ten churches interested in joining the league are asked to send a representative to the April 18th meeting along with a player roster.

Senior Y Tourney Opens With Three Fast Engagements

El Fityet, Rebels, Civics Take First Round Wins On Opening Night

Three fast games marked the opening night card in the senior gold medal basketball tournament at the Y Monday evening. El Fityet, Rebels and Civics took first round wins by decisive margins.

Four more teams see first round action tonight and the Civics and Rebels clash in a second bracket contest.

Jack Peterson led the Civics to their 34 to 25 win over the Chiefs. The two clubs were tied at 7-7 in the first period but the Civics built up a four-point margin at half time and increased that five more during the last period. Peterson racked up 13 markers on some nifty shooting around the basket. Jim Sferia's seven was high for the Chiefs.

'Pozza Has Hard Bout Ahead'—Baxter

Judging from what Russel Baxter, middleweight, says, Billy Pozza has a tough fight ahead of him in boxing Jackie Lyons of Oklahoma City here April 13.

Baxter, a close friend of Lyons, claims Jackie defeated Ralph Freeman when Ralph was good, knocked out Reuben Shanks and only recently went nine rounds with Billy Conn in Billy's abbreviated comeback.

During the latter fight Lyons hit Conn on the nose, causing an injury which apparently had something to do with Conn's decision to give up his attempted comeback. He must undergo an operation to repair the damage.

Several weeks ago Lyons boxed Gene Mozdele at Pittsburgh, losing a disputed decision.

Duke Peaks and Johnny Izzo will stage a re-fight, their fight at Ellwood City resulting in a draw.

CANADIENS, WINGS BATTLE TONIGHT

DETROIT, April 5.—(INS)—The Montreal Canadiens and Red Wings will clash at Detroit tonight in the seventh and rubber game of a series that will determine which team will face the Toronto Maple Leafs for the Stanley cup, hockey's biggest prize.

Several Score Taught To Cast

Several score youth last night attended the Conservation club meeting in Ben Franklin junior high school gymnasium. D. Emerick's group continued its casting lessons and bait casting in the Skish contest. Two casting classes and two bait fishing classes were conducted during the evening. In addition, a small group of fly tyers operated under the supervision of Claire Stitt with the assistance of some boys from the Union Township Junior Sportsmen's club.

Next week there will be bait casting, bait fishing and fly tying in addition to first aid which precedes every meeting.

Eligio Barberia Reporting Here

Havana Options Young Colored Star To New Castle Nats For 1949 Season

Mike Cannavino, president of the New Castle Nats of the Middle-Atlantic league, through his business and playing-manager Billy Mongiello today announced the signing of Eligio Barberia, (Barber) of Havana, Cuba. Barberia is an outfielder.

The colored star, 21 years old, 6 foot 2, and weighing 190 pounds, was a participating member of the U. S. Olympic track team last summer in Europe. He is reported to be fast, and a good fly chaser. He bats and throws right handed, and hits a long ball.

Optioned By Havana

Barberia has been optioned to New Castle by the Havana team of the Florida International league. New Castle is very fortunate in securing this star outfielder for the 1949 season. He will add a lot of hitting power to the team.

Barberia has ambitions to become a big leaguer and only needs a little seasoning. Last week he played with Havana against the Philadelphia Athletics and pounded the ball hard. In three games against the Macks he came up with seven hits in 12 times at bat.

The young star will be among the players reporting to Manager Mongiello here on Friday, April 15th. He will be in the "pink" of condition having played all winter long in Havana.

Indications are that other Cuban players are headed for New Castle this summer. At least two young pitchers are expected to be optioned here by Havana for further seasoning under the wing of the veteran Billy Mongiello.

Junior Sportsmen To Convene Tonight

Union Township Junior Sportsmen's club will hold its regular Tuesday meeting in the Union High gym about 7:30 o'clock. Prior to the regular meeting and discussion the distance and fly casting contests will be held on the football field starting at 6:30. Competition in these two events is open to members only. Others may compete but their scores will not count toward awards.

At the regular business meeting the matter of pine seedling planting, multiflora rose and lespedeza bicolor plantings will be taken up in addition to the scheduled topics, artificial lures and trout techniques. All members are requested to be present at the business meeting as planting squads will be assigned and their work outlined. There will be fly casting class and fly tying class after the business meeting.

New Bedford Team Meets Wednesday

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

THIS week is Conservation week throughout Pennsylvania and it behooves all to look toward the future. Conservation is the wise use and perpetuation of natural resources. There is a need for soil conservation, for the replanting of trees on cut-over areas, and for cleaning polluted waterways. Soil is an economic asset. From it, is obtained directly and indirectly, food, lumber and material for clothing. There was a time when the Keystone state was a great timber body but, nowadays, the state imports several times the amount of lumber produced. Statistics claim 35 percent of the state's streams are polluted and, it is impossible to tell what contamination has cost in illness and death; therefore, the citizens, as stewards of natural resources, should think of the future, and wisely use them and, replenish them wherever possible, in order that the generations may better enjoy life.

Hen' Hamilton and a group of local sportsmen, are giving consideration to a fishing and hunting trip to Alaska in September. Should they finally decide to go, they'll travel in their own bus. . . Board of directors, Lawrence County Sportsman's association, several nights ago, discussed making a lake on their Harbor district grounds. . . Joie Vitale, manager of Johnny Izzo, the rough and ready Mahoningtown middleweight, witnessed O'Dell Riley T-Kayo Rizieri Ronzi. Ronzi beat him easily in the first two rounds, but in the third, Riley floored Rizieri with a right cross to the head. When Ronzi arose, he received another devastating right cross also to the head, which put him down again. His manager stopped the fight at the count of seven. After seeing the fight in Akron, Joie went to Cleveland, and watched the Lee Sala-George Small fight. Sala was given the decision. Vitale says that, in his opinion, Small should have received the award.

Last night at Ben Franklin Junior High School gymnasium scores of 12-18 year-olds received their free, and third lesson in Outdoors life. The boys already have considerable improvement in fly-tying and casting, and many trout are apt to suffer catches because of the boys skill. It is one of the most worthwhile movements started here of recent date, and the instructors, all from sportsmen's associations, are to be praised for giving their time and service to inculcate wild life spirit into youth. . . Jack McCracken resides 150 yards from a good Slippery Rock trout hole but, rarely fishes. Farm work consumes most of his time, he says. . . Every trout stream in Lawrence county has been stocked either with brown, brook or rainbow, and some streams received two species of trout. . . Claire Stitt is another who ties his own flies. . . The late Cricket Wynser was one of the best trout fishermen the county ever had. Jake Perelman and he fished much together.

Here & There has before him a book prepared by Sam Austin, Sporting Editor, of the Police Gazette, published decades ago by the Richard K. Fox Publishing company. It deals with training, and all the top notchers of the day are mentioned. Concerning Bob Fitzsimmons training diet, it, in brief, says: Breakfast: dry toast, boiled or fried eggs (and if the latter all fat should be drained from them) and weak tea, without milk or sugar. Dinner: roast beef or mutton, or perhaps beefsteak with dry toast, some calvesfoot jelly, very little vegetables of some sort, peas preferred and fruit for desert. Puddings and pies are prohibited. The supper should be light, perhaps of dry bread, or toast, weak tea, cold beef or mutton, stewed prunes and an apple or orange, and as for "hitting the hay", Fitzsimmons said a fighter should be in bed at eight o'clock and up with the first ray of sunshine the next morning. Throughout the book are photos of the late Jimmy Dime demonstrating punches.

NEW YORK—Billy Meyer's recognized ability with pitchers, the potent home run bat of slugging Ralph Kiner and the increased depth of the club at all positions may boost the Pittsburgh Pirates into a contending role in the well-balanced National league race this year.

Meyer's success with the Bucs in his first big league try last season was cited up and down the land and even led one baseball club owner to state Meyer "is the best manager in baseball."

Given a pitching staff that reeked of has-beens, Meyer drove the seventh place club of 1947 into fourth slot last season.

The Bucs did plenty of solid window shopping this winter. Meyer himself told newsmen the team was improved 25 per cent. Prize package in the winter dealing may have been Pitcher Murray Dickson, who went to the Bucs for $125,000.

Dickson, a little righthander, won 12 games while losing 16 for the Cards in 1948. Even Eddie Dyer, the Card's manager, has stated the Cards pulled a boner in letting Dickson go. In fact, he said Dickson might just be the guy to win the pennant for the Bucs.

Then there is Bob Muncief, who was a winner for the Browns but pitched infrequently for the Indians last year. Also added was Hugh Casey, the Dodger's relief specialist.

Ace of the staff is Bob Chesness, who will be facing the sophomore jinx this year. Chesness won 14 and lost six for the Bucs last year in his freshman visit. Meyer figures Chesness may win 15 or 20 games.

Elmer Riddle, who was bothered by sore arms until he came to the Bucs last year, turned in a good record in 1948, winning 12 against 10 losses, and, assuming he has another good season, the Bucs will finally have a pitchers' staff.

Rip Sewell, who is 40, still can dish 'em up in spots and so can Ernie Bonham. Among the newcomers is Bill Werle, a southpaw who won 17 games for San Francisco in 1948.

The catching is improved with the addition of Clyde McCullough from the Cubs. Eddie Fitzgerald also will benefit by a year's experience behind the plate.

At first base, Les Fleming, former first sacker of the Indians, has been brought up from Indianapolis where he batted .323 and hit 26 home runs besides walking off with the most valuable player award. Fleming is bidding for the first base job with Eddie Stevens, who is a fancy fielder and played that spot for the Pirates last year.

Danny Murtaugh is the second sacker and Stan Rojek the shortstop. Each turned in identical batting marks of .290 last year. Pete Castiglione, who hit .308 for Indianapolis in 148 games last season, is being tried at short and could play third base if necessary. Jack Cassini, another of the Indianapolis cast of 1948, is a second sacker and has looked good in camp.

At third base Meyer has Eddie Bockman, another Cleveland cast-off, Jack Tobin, who had a good year at San Francisco, has been dividing the duties here.

Meyer will be conducting another experiment in the outfield. Another castoff, Walt Judnich, from the Indians, is being given the center field post and Meyer predicts he will help the club both at bat and in the field. Judnich always was a long-ball hitter for the Browns but with the Indians he could hit but two home runs in 79 games.

Kiner, the guy who may crack Babe Ruth's home run mark, is in left and reported in better condition than he's ever been. Kiner hit 40 round-trippers last season after blasting 51 the year before. Ancient Dixie Walker probably will be in right field although Manager Meyer has been using Wally Westlake and Rookie Ted Beard in that garden. Beard also comes from Indianapolis.
